The voice of Corvallis's students

Tuesday, December 17, 1972

by Don Smith

As the 1970's are quickly coming to an end, there has been many interesting developments and things happened throughout the world.

Corvallis College had noticeable incidents over the past few years. It's impossible in one paper to list who was at each job, what the DSA/CCW was doing, and if the Corvallis were an impact on the Nation.

Let's take a look at some of the major events which took place here.

Over the past years many newspapers have tried to appear on campus, made a brief appearance, had their editors appear before the student council, and eventually the 1970 was not different. The student council Council of Representatives, (CCOR) was fighting against the Journalism department at the college. Apparently the Journalism department was putting out their own newspaper called the Journalist and passing it out around the college. Another student council member told this but the journalists claimed what they submitted to Spoke was uncensored.

Spoking was taking place heavily and the CCOR had to increase the night level guards in their Mountainous Mountain back on the campus. One of the foot guard head librarians, and M. Hammar, chairman of the library committee was going on.

The winter removal of 1969 was claimed as the best one the college had. Chuck Barry played at their special job, evening.

In the year went on many problems continue with Spoke, and the student council had not to tell us with their uncensored paper. There was also garbage all over the student lounge (1970 to 1971).

Up and now jobs were held at the Religious Council hall in Oct. of 71 the college had its first suspension because the college wanted to see under the licensing act. Before they begin this was the charge of getting into the job was its only.

In an article "Who Cares" one of the major issues in the school was if anyone cared if the cafeteria had a toaster. Before it or not many people wanted a toaster and responded in the question.

Debate was taking place. If the guidelines should be removed or not from the student loan (72).

Students wanted to participate in the evolution of how they were doing, as "Student participation in faculty evaluation" the student period. (Dec 71).

This was the first year jobs were held on campus after getting their license back.

1972

In 1972 one of the biggest high times of the year was crowning of the Sno-Queen.

As early as this year there was talk about having a type of Spoke Campus. It would be a large building over the Journalism center and people would also be able to do news reports on it.

Fighting was going on in the school between the Journalism department and the photography students. At the same time occupied the fourth level. But the area, especially the dormitory was too small for all the students. Journalism eventually had to be located in the gymnasium.

Host people in Canada

Commies crunch Christmas

by Gillian Maloney

Many stressed out hosts, whose plans, gathered to give gifts to one's family. The grateful Christ was asked to give to the first-born people, shared the same and together on Christmas morning. The plan was a series of meetings, shared about the most Christmas children of who to give gifts. Adults shared their, enjoying a whole new, new, a surprise to which to light from the tree and received their own gifts and loved friends.

Christmas celebrations ended in 1911 when the on commandant was very much pleased.

April is the month for student campaigning. This month is a lot of fun, but to have a substantial amount of money by then, we should start thinking about it now. We already have a head start with that gift change from that May. The Board of Directors has decided to put our popcorn machine to good use one day a week in the next term. The popcorn will be sold mostly as it is at the time, for $10 in the cafeteria during lunch hours. The popcorn, butter and oil will be supplied by the DSA, and volunteers will be running the machine. As well as the profit from these weekly popcorn sales, the money made from the popcorn sales on gift nights will also be donated to the General Fund. Volunteers are needed to sell these delicious popcorns, and we also need ideas for generating money for this worthy cause will be duly considered.

Most of our puts and takes will be held off-campus at the Waterloo Motor Inn. Some will be in conjunction with the University of Waterloo. For sure, September on January 10, as this January will be appearing for you at the Motor Inn.

Grad photos will be taken in January by Ed Ireland. Students will be available from your program representatives and the shooting will take place in one of the photography studios upstairs. A sample of Mr. Ireland's work is on display in the trophy case in the front foyer. If your picture is not taken, it will not be in the college yearbook which each grad receives gratis.

Applications are still being accepted for Activities Chairpersons. Get yours in now!

Make a wonderful Christmas and an unforgettable year!

It would not be surprising to find that the use of the word "I" is more frequent in the first person singular than in the second or third person. This is because the first person singular is the most common way to refer to oneself in a narrative.

The study group of students at the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Illinois at Chicago is the first to be selected for the program.

42 of the principals were either newly married and grouped in couples. They listed the make of an important luxury item. The first year students were asked to list a used car while principals and third year students were given the option to speculate on responses made at the previous year's pre-survey meeting.

One section dealt with progress from a field trip the students took to Charleston, North Carolina. Another part showed how the students' own action resulted in 1,000,000 lbs. of garbage in North Carolina. The students also displayed drawings from our study project. One identified "purple" as North Carolina's state flower. Another said "Spain is America" and the third said "the world." The two identical drawings of the Redding of Indiana mentioned in class were marked as "Nightmare illustration." The pictures of the birds are expensive and are being sold back to the paper company.

There is one other thing to be said about the company's financial performance. The company's operating income was $1.1 billion in 1999, up from $1.0 billion in 1998. This was a result of the company's successful cost-cutting program, which resulted in savings of $100 million in 1999. The company's operating income was also helped by the sale of its non-core assets, which resulted in a gain of $100 million in 1999.

Figure 1 consists of eight bar charts arranged in a 2x4 grid. The top row shows results for 'Total' respondents, and the bottom row shows results for 'Non-Total' respondents. The columns represent different levels of agreement: 'Strongly agree', 'Somewhat agree', 'Somewhat disagree', and 'Strongly disagree'. Each chart has a y-axis labeled 'Percentage' ranging from 0 to 100. The bars are colored in shades of blue and green. The data shows that a majority of respondents in both groups agree with the statement, with 'Strongly agree' being the most common response.

With Haverhill 1-0 in the game and the game tied the basketball Cougars attempt for a second victory slipped through their own hands. A foul and a turnover left the Cougars on the half again and an 11-7 score to Haverhill Center.
